23rd Street Resurfacing Approved

SAN BERNARDINO – On Tuesday, the Board of Supervisors approved a contract to resurface a portion of 23rd Street that bisects the unincorporated community of San Antonio Heights and the City of Upland.

The City of Upland and the County of San Bernardino are evenly splitting the cost of the $128,543 project.

“This much-needed road project delivers benefits for Upland and San Antonio Heights residents, so it was another natural partnership between the County and the City of Upland,” said Board of Supervisors Chairman Paul Biane, who represents the communities as the County’s Second District Supervisor.

Past partnerships between the County and the City of Upland include the resurfacing of 24th Street and various improvements at San Antonio Park.

The milling and resurfacing of 23rd Street between Mountain Avenue and San Antonio Avenue is scheduled to begin later this month. The County Department of Public Works estimates the project will be completed by mid-February.
